

Cover more names. Explore more ideas. Move before the market.

Mercata is the second brain for fundamental hedge funds.

Your edge is what your fund knows. Most of it isn't being put to work.

Filings, transcripts and research grow every year. Your fund's own thinking is scattered across email, memos and chats. And you can't hire your way out: every new analyst adds cost, starts from zero, and dilutes your decision-making.

WHAT IT'S COSTING YOU

-  Missed. The risk on page 200 of a competitor's filing.
-  Wasted. Hours digging for data instead of applying judgment.
-  Forgotten. Why did we buy? What did we expect? What did management promise?

WHAT YOUR FUND GETS

Cover.

Read 10x more. Focus on the few that matter.

Mercata reads every filing, transcript and note in your universe, so your team spends its time where it's most valuable.

Explore.

Every new idea starts from what your fund already knows.

Past work, filings and what went wrong last time are already there. New analysts build on everything the team has already done.

Move.

Know the moment a thesis breaks.

Mercata knows why you own each position and flags changes relevant to you, as they happen, so you're never caught flat-footed.

WHY MERCATA

Your views and the market, connected. Securely.

Knows your book, not just the market.
Others see the news. Mercata weighs it the way your team would.

Nothing leaves, nothing trains a model.
Logically isolated and zero-trust by design. What's yours stays yours.

Any model, never locked in.
OpenAI, Anthropic, xAI or your own.
